

A choice question

a choice question
an e question
lack of confidence
incoherent probability
one of those other other
but seems like
a day of phrases
a day out of phase
for example
the survey states
there's contraband in the air they are verbally decanting an amorphous dazzle
they are the pedestrians
free falling forward
in two letter bodies
holding small letters
in even smaller hands
in smaller pockets
build for small hands
small letters
for a smaller sense
of a smaller body
held in even smaller hands heaven sent reminders
a pervious uttered something point being
first encounters
make good adjectives
uttered
under the weight of
protruding vowels
vowels
smudged out by
flames like identity
blinking
why not
e plurabus unum
why not
something light
tight
justified with attitude
why not
graveyard
dusk
killdeer
something question
a antique question
like most

we watch
we watch in awe
we wait and watch
we say
or do
a few ticks
call it a galaxy
a universe
a particle
call it
a proposition
a something sea
a breath
before the sea
makes one think
and u-c
soon enough
liberation minus
the point to point
results
which would be mathematics
with a promise
an internal
berserk hypnosis
more exactly
nothing nothing
but small vowels
connected to small hands
connected to
walking activities
never says never
to the water by the sea
or storm over the sea
or the moveable line
or the rock
along the sea
that's more about the wax
than the wane
for the next to happen